RESPONSE TO CALL FOR ROAD FUND IS DECLARED AS GOOD

Solicitors are Meeting With Fair Amount Of Success

WORK STARTED IN AFTERNOON

Committee Has Not Finished Asking Contributors

The response of the Albany-Decatur citizenship to the call for funds with which to repair the Morgan county section of the Decatur-Courtland highway has been fairly good. This announcement was made today by D. D. Burleson, chairman of the solicitation committee, appointed Thursday from the Kiwanis club.

Mr. Burleson added that the call for funds has not yet been completed several contributors who are frequent users of the highway are yet to be called upon for the amount necessary to put the road in passable condition.

M. S. Bingham, engineer, who was appointed by President Jones, of the Kiwanis club, to oversee the job, declared that he talked with a representative of the Littrell Construction company today and the work on the road would be started this afternoon. Four or five days is believed all necessary to place the road in proper condition for temporary relief. The state highway commission may possibly be able to do something with the project at a later date.

Lawrence county people and the Lawrence board of revenue are going to be called upon to repair the two miles remaining in Lawrence county, between the Fish Pond location and the Morgan county line. It is the opinion of the local committee that Lawrence people will contribute gladly, being assured that the Morgan section is going to be put in first class shape.

The contract let to the Littrell Construction company calls for the placing of the road in passable condition and means that the road must be scarified and rolled. Some material will be placed in the greater breaks in the surfacing.

The mine was ordered sealed immediately, leaving within it's workings the three men unaccounted for and the bodies of two others which were found early today. The total dead numbered 26.

The rehearsal for the show will be held tonight at the Masonic Hall at seven o'clock.

Sheppard Suffers Mangled Finger

E. T. Sheppard, employee of the Daily, suffered a badly mangled fore finger on his right hand Thursday afternoon about three o'clock when his hand was caught in one of the folders of the Daily press. Sheppard was running the afternoon mail edition at the time. The unfortunate man was taken to the offices of Dr. Chenault and Chenault, where medical attention was given and it is hoped that the digit may be saved from amputation. Only the first joint of the digit was crushed. Sheppard will probably be off duty for a week or more.

TWO U. S. DRY RAIDERS ARE SHOT TO DEATH AS THEY CALL ON FARMER

Search For Whiskey At Residence Of Floridian Results Fatally; Slayer Surrenders To Sheriff

PERRY, Fla., Dec. 10.—(AP)—A search for whiskey in a wild section, 15 miles west of here, resulted fatally for two federal prohibition agents yesterday. J. W. Buchanan, a farmer, shot and killed W. B. Mobley, 38, and J. P. Brandt, 35, when the men called at his home.

Sheriff F. L. Lipscomb, to whom Buchanan surrendered last night, said the prohibition agents suspected Buchanan of violating the prohibition law.

A pistol and shotgun were used in the exchange of shots at the farm, but details were lacking.

The version of Buchanan, who at the time was at liberty under bond on a charge of manslaughter in connection with the killing of another man sometime ago, was that he was in his home when the shooting occurred. Mobley and Brandt, working out of the Tampa office, made their way to the section in an automobile unaccompanied.

Federal prohibition headquarters at Tampa were informed of the slayings. It was said that both men were married and had children.

Mobley came here from Maryland, while Brandt lived in Tampa.

JUNIOR CHAMBER IS GIVEN BOOST

Citizens Think An Office Should Be Established

The Albany-Decatur Junior Chamber of Commerce was the subject of considerable boosting on the part of Ed R. Adcock, Albany street superintendent, and John Wilkes, assistant city clerk, Albany, this morning, both city employees stating that the organization had been of untold worth in the past year as a civic factor. Each backed the plan for establishing a permanent secretary and office for the organization.

"I don't know what has come over these people," said Mr. Adcock, "They used to talk about things and when action was needed they seemed to let the matter drop, but it is different now, the people are doing things. They have sold themselves on Albany-Decatur and in turn are selling others on the location. Personally I should be glad to contribute toward a membership in the Junior Chamber of Commerce, that organization is doing things."

Mr. Wilkes was of like opinion, stating that he would like to help in the building of the new spirit which has become alive in these cities.

The Junior Chamber is planning to establish a permanent office and secretary during the coming year, principally through an anticipated increase in membership rolls.

Committee Asks Two For Service

Mrs. W. T. Price, Mrs. Frank Duffey and D. H. McClellan, chosen as the temporary committee for the Albany-Decatur Curb market, have asked that two representatives of men's organizations in these cities be chosen to serve on the permanent curb market committee. The representatives likely will be chosen from the membership of the Kiwanis club and the Junior Chamber of Commerce. The curb market will be opened in the spring of 1927.

FORCES ASSEMBLE IN FINAL EFFORT TO PUT DRIVE OVER

The triple drive force, centered in the Louisville and Nashville shops, in Albany and in Decatur, assembled today with renewed vigor and interest as the limit neared on the Y. M. C. A. annual membership campaign. The campaign will be brought to a close Saturday night, officially.

With satisfactory progress thus far, campaigners launched into their work of canvassing the cities and industries today, determined to put across the 2,000 membership goal and in doing so they assure a wide-spread influence for good from the Y. M. C. A. during the coming year.

Secretary C. J. Randolph stated some days ago that he felt the drive would prove a success and that with the success he could

CASH SETTLEMENT FOR COUNT DENIED

Papers Insist Father Of Millicent Paid To End Suit

NEW YORK, Dec. 10.—(AP)—Reports of a prospective cash settlement, ranging from a half to a million dollars, were in circulation today after the sudden adjournment of the separation suit to Count Ludwig Salm Hoogstraeten against his wife, the former Millicent Rogers, Standard Oil heiress.

Official confirmation was lacking and Herman Goodstein, counsel for the Count, denied that any settlement had been made.

"I know nothing of such an offer," he said. "I know nothing of any proposal to settle the suit out of court. I deny that any monetary offer of settlement had been made to either Count Salm or myself. Nevertheless, New York newspapers said they had authoritative information that when the case is called again January 17, announcement would be made that a settlement had been reached out of court."

One report was that Colonel H. H. Rogers, in making the settlement, insisted that Count Salm relinquish all claim in his two-year-old son, Peter, and that he leave the country, never to return.

REDEEM PLEDGES FOR HOSPITAL NOW IS PLEA OF BOARD

Public Appeal Made Today By Chairman Patterson

ADDITION NEAR COMPLETION

Money Needed Now To Meet Payments To Contractor

Persons who subscribed to the Benevolent hospital fund today were urged by John Patterson, chairman of the building committee, to pay their pledges promptly inasmuch as the time is nearing when it will be necessary to pay the final estimates of the architect to the contractor.

The appeal follows: Albany, Ala., Dec. 10, 1926.

To Every Subscriber to Benevolent Society Hospital Campaign:

Some months ago an extensive campaign was put on in this community for the purpose of raising funds to enlarge the Benevolent Society Hospital.

The response on the part of our people to this appeal for funds was hearty and enthusiastic and pledges made aggregating a total of over $60,000.00.

On the strength of these pledges the building committee proceeded with dispatch in the employment of an architect, the discussion and final acceptance of the architect's plans and the letting of the contract to our hospital.

This addition which is an imposing and handsome structure is fast nearing completion and it is therefore imperative that the pledges made are redeemed in accordance with their terms at least in order that the architect's estimates may be promptly paid to the contractor.

As chairman of the Shrine building committee I am appealing to our people for the prompt redemption of their pledges made in the campaign and accepted as an obligation to pay by the building committee.

Your prompt response to this appeal is expected and shall be greatly appreciated by the building committee.

Very respectfully, JOHN PATTERSON, Chairman Building Committee.

John Wilkes, assistant city clerk, explained that there are quite a number of buildings going up at the present time for which permits have not been granted.

ONE DEAD IN BLAST AT MIXING PLANT

HAMMOND, Ind., Dec. 10.—(AP)—Henry Franks was killed and seven injured by an explosion in the mixing plant of the Central Railway Mixing company here today. Franks, who was mixing explosives for the manufacture of railway torpedoes, was blown 400 feet out of a building and the plant badly wrecked.

Among the injured was H. O. Bemisberfer, the plant superintendent, who, however, is expected to recover.

The mixing plant, a one-story brick building, was reduced to debris. Five other buildings were damaged. The shock rocked the city and windows were broken a mile from the plant.

Details of Coup Are Bared By Witness In Oil Trial

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10.—(AP)—Secretary Wilbur, of the navy department, was called to the witness stand today in the Fall-Doheny oil trial.

Under cross examination today in his trial for criminal conspiracy, Edward L. Doheny said his celebrated $100,000 loan to Albert B. Fall was not all the money he had advanced to his friend and co-defendant since Fall entered the cabinet.

Asked what other loans he had made, he said he loaned Fall $5,000 just before he came to Washington for the trial. Doheny also disclosed he had lent the Oregon government of Mexico, $10,000 000 in the form of advanced taxes on Pan-American and Mexican properties.

Fall acted as agent for Pan-American interests in Mexico in arranging this $10,000,000 loan, after he left the cabinet, said the witness. He could not fix the date but he recalled "it saved the situation in Mexico much to the disgust of many Americans."

Doheny said, however, Fall was not in his employment but that his advice had been sought in connection with the Mexican loan. The money was used in rehabilitation of the Mexican army's military maneuvers.

Postal inspectors now are declared by Editor and Publisher, trade journal, to be investigating the affairs of the farm and its advertising schedule, which apparently covered a large part of the nation.

The Daily accepted this advertising copy in good faith and regrets very much that something appears to be amiss in its connection.

Had the Daily had any doubt whatever of the authenticity of the claims made in the advertisement, this newspaper, of course, would not have published the copy. Since the recent developments became known, the Daily immediately suspended publication of the advertising copy and takes this means to warn its readers not to respond to it.

DEVELOPMENT OF ASPHALT IS BEGUN

Options Obtained On Coal Lands Near Russellville

Development of asphalt and coal resources of the western area of the Tennessee Valley now is underway, according to the Tri-Cities Daily. A village now is being erected at the Mangerum property, where 75 houses are said to be under construction.

The article follows: Work upon the construction of a village at the Mangerum quarry of the asphalt operations of the Deepwater Coal and Iron company, is making excellent headway, according to officials of that firm, Wednesday.

Twenty houses are being constructed an office building and a commissary, as first units of the settlement. Operations in the asphalt mine are to begin sometime during February, it is now believed unless unforeseen delays occur.

Col. H. L. Bolby, vice-president of the Deepwater Coal and Iron company, has been in the Muscle Shoals district during the past few weeks, overseeing the new development, the asphalt upon which will probably be used in connection with the great southway project, planned by Col. L. B. Musgrove, president of that firm and Samuel Hill, developer.

The Deepwater Coal and Iron company has recently closed options upon ore properties near Russellville, it was said, which with coal lands that they have purchased, will form the basis of furnaces which Col. Musgrove, has heretofore announced his intention of building for the purpose of exploiting these resources. Col. Musgrove has stated, according to local industrialists, that he will develop the asphalt projects first.

Col. Bolby is out of the city at present, it is said, but will return within a few weeks. Seventy-five men are at work on the settlement, it is said.

CULLMAN MAN ON THE "ARSENE J."

Captive of Schooner Reared On Farm Near Here

The Associated Press has discovered that J. A. Handley, petty officer, who was taken captive by the Arsene J, French schooner, along with Assistant Prohibition Administrator Mathews, is a native of Cullman county. His mother resided on a farm near the city of Cullman at present and news of his safety aboard the Arsene, Jr., at a Mexican port, caused rejoicing there.

Handley is said to have relatives residing in this county. The Associated Press account follows: News of the safety of Petty Officer J. A. Handley and Assistant Prohibition Administrator J. B. Mathews, who were missing aboard the French rum ship, Arsene, Jr., for seven days, brought joy to a farmhouse 15 miles from Cullman, Alabama. There the 50-year-old mother of Handley, who is a member of the coast guard, had waited days for some news regarding her son.

Handley was raised at Cullman at the home of his uncle C. A. Riley, following the death of his father 20 years ago. His mother lives with his sister, Mrs. George Holmes, just a short distance from where the boy was born.

The young coast guardsman was 27 years old when he enlisted one year ago at Manhattan Island. He was transferred recently to Biloxi, Miss., and it was while serving there that he was aboard the Arsene J to assist Mathews in manning the captured vessel.

Ratliff, manager, today, "get your toy or your clothing and put it where it is easy to find tomorrow morning, go to bed and dream of the happiness you are going to bring other kiddies with your little gift to Santa Claus."

Manager Ratliff was speaking of the Princess Theatre party Saturday morning at the Princess when kiddies of Albany-Decatur will take a toy or some old discarded clothing as an admission price to the picture that is given free by Paramount Pictures, Inc. The Princess is giving the party at the price of an old toy or an article of old clothing. The Daily is keeping the kiddies thinking of the party and urging parents to allow their children to go. The gifts placed in the lobby of the Princess will be distributed by the ladies of the Benevolent Society, making some little hearts glad which might otherwise be sad when old Santa whips his reindeer passed some Albany-Decatur chimneys on Christmas eve. The matinee will begin at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning and the kiddies will be out in plenty of time for the noon day meal. Parents may accompany the tots and have just as much genuine pleasure in helping to make a happy Christmas for those who are unfortunate, the picture is suitable for grown-ups and tots alike.

"Hey-Skinnay—come on over, let's go down to the Princess and see that free movie and make some other kid happy on Christmas morning."

ANOTHER EMPLOYEE OF BANK IS HELD

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Dec. 10.—(AP)—J. T. Williams, individual bookkeeper of the American Savings Bank and Trust Company, of Memphis, now in receivership, was arrested this afternoon and charged with embezzlement of $21,000.

Williams' arrest was a new development in the sensation concerned with the bank which closed Tuesday, following the suicide of Clarence Henochsberg, assistant cashier and confessed defaulter in the sum of $300,000, and surrender yesterday of Rush H. Parke, clerk in the bank, after shortages of $105,000 had been revealed in Parke's accounts.

Bank and city officers, who brought about Williams' arrest did not explain whether Williams' alleged illegal activities had been in conjunction with those of Henochsberg and of Parke.

Parke, who continued to aid bank examiners in clearing up the institution's accounts, today charged that he had been Henochsberg's tool.

Will T. Griffin, detective inspector, after locking Williams in the city prison, said the man had admitted the embezzlement charged against him. Williams, who is about 30 years old, kept the individual account book of certain depositors.

27 Lynchings In U. S. To Nov. 15th

MINNEAPOLIS, Dec. 10.—(AP)—Twenty-seven lynchings, nine more than the whole of 1925, had occurred in the United States up to November 15, 1926, the committee on race relations reported to the federal council of churches today.

"This," said the report, "represents the severest set-back since 1922 in the campaign to marshal churches against lynchings and the plea of the churches for a lynchless land seems further from realization than any year since that time."

Bishop George C. Clement, of Louisville, Ky., is chairman of the committee.

Heiresses Who Swapped Millions to Do Their Own Dishes

At least two American heiresses, living in the home town of the richest American, Henry Ford, have started their matrimonial careers determined to live, not in the style to which they have been accustomed, but the style most compatible with their husbands' pocketbooks.

They are the former Julia Buhl and Grace Briggs of Detroit, who, as debutantes and daughters of wealthy parents, enjoyed all the luxuries of palatial homes. Now they have changed their names to Mrs. Arthur Morley Kugeman and Mrs. W. Dean Robinson, respectively, and they are living in modest homes, strictly within their incomes.

Mrs. W. Dean Robinson, Daughter of W. O. Briggs, Detroit Millionaire, and the Luxurious Home Which She Forsook to Take Up a Humble Abode with Her Young Husband.

while the respective advertising material carried different addresses throughout the South, the S. N. P. A. states that the orders appear to have emanated from the same source in Atlanta. Members of that association have been advised not to publish advertising of these concerns. One of the orders instructed publishers to insert the copy in three, four, or five inch space, 20 times, but only one paper is on record as having carried the business.

"No arrests have been made, to the knowledge of S. N. P. A. officials, and the post office inspectors have refused to disclose their findings. A special investigator is said to have been in Gainesville recently.

"Reports from Florida indicate that even if the firm had groves at or near Gainesville, it would be impossible to ship oranges at the advertised price of $3 per box prepaid.

"Oranges are selling in Gainesville at 40 cents per dozen, which on a pack of 144 to the box, means a price of $4.80 f. o. b. Gainesville. Oranges of the kind advertised, it is stated, could not be bought at the groves for less than $2.75 to $3.50 per box.

"Editor & Publisher's request for information on the firm from the Gainesville (Fla.) Sun, brought this reply:

"No such firm as Acme Farms is located in or near this city. This matter is now in hands of federal government for investigation. An inspector here last week stated that the operators would be behind bars within the next few weeks.

"These people are also advertising baby chicks throughout the United States under the same name.

"The post office department here is employing special clerks to handle the great mass of mail coming in answer to advertisements these people have put over. "Money orders sent to this firm were cashed by banks in Atlanta. Mails are now being held up by postal authorities and money orders will be returned wherever possible.

"This office is being flooded with telegrams, letters and telephone calls regarding activities of Acme Farms.

"Advise that you warn all newspapers against any advertising of this kind from Florida unless coming through an authorized agency."

NEW LAMP BURNS 94% AIR Beats Electric or Gas

A new oil lamp that gives an amazingly brilliant, soft, white light, even better than gas or electricity, has been tested by the U. S. Government and 35 leading universities and found to be superior to 10 ordinary oil lamps. It burns without odor, smoke or noise—no pumping up, is simple, clean, safe. Burns 94 per cent air and 6 per cent common kerosene (coal oil).

The inventor, T. G. Johnson, 609 W. Lake St., Chicago, Ill., is offering to send a lamp on 10 day's FREE trial, or even to give one FREE to the first user in each locality who will help him introduce it. Write him today for full particulars. Also ask him to explain how you can get the agency, and without experience or money make $250 to $500 per month. Adv.

Henry Hartung and little daughter, Alma, are in Tennessee.

Mrs. Will Wyker will entertain the Auction Bridge Club Friday afternoon at one o'clock.

Mrs. Bluet P. Wallace entertained the Married Ladies' Bridge Club Wednesday afternoon, Mrs. Boswell winning the prize.

The Kiwanis minstrel deserves your support, the money from that show goes toward the feeding and clothing of unfortunates.

Buying at home will at least give you a clear conscience the next time you approach a merchant for a donation.

It takes a great deal more overtime with a great many men to make them stick to long hours, there is even a point of satiety with money making.

When a man tells the story of values to be found in the Tennessee Valley he's kidding the nation, the nation has known of existing values in this section for many years, politicians have kept that value from being utilized.

If you continue to talk Albany-Decatur as the best location in the Valley soon you will see that others are of the same opinion and that there is considerable constructive activity. In such case talk is of extreme value, in most cases it is valued only in the lung power of the wind artist.

Senator Norris has burst forth again. "Vermont maple syrup and buckwheat cakes have no charm for me," he wrote, in reference to the white house harmony breakfasts, "if the object is bridging the chasm made by fraud and corruption disclosed in the Illinois and Pennsylvania primaries."

An article appearing in Editor & Publisher this week tells of the worth of co-ordination between the newspaper of a city and the city government, the writer finds that the public is willing to assist the government so long as it is kept on the inside of things. This newspaper is fortunate in that it publishes the facts of city government in both Albany and Decatur, councilmen here have learned the value of letting the public get in on things.

SUPPOSE YOU DIDN'T HAVE A CHANCE TO GIVE TO CHARITY.

Some fellows wear a sour face, others look a bit nauseated, others dodge around the nearest corner, solicitors are out, drives are demanding a little outlay of cash, cash which might be spent just as easily in a matching game, for confessions, for gasoline and how much easier and willingly could it be spent for that sort of thing, so much easier than for tickets, or contributions for charitable purposes.

Friend have you ever thought what it means to be able to give toward charitable purpose?

Have you ever figured a percentage of the people who would feel flattered if they could give a quarter here, fifty cents there, five dollars for this or that? No? You never have been in that predicament, no worries about where the next meal was coming from, nor where you are going to lay your head after the day's work is brought to a close. You don't know what it means not to be able to give to charity, join this and that and go to this and that church social or supper, do you?

Well, considered in such a lot you are very fortunate indeed. There are just plenty of folks who can't go because they are not able to go, because they have no bank account to fall upon, they have no old clothes to give to any gift distributing society for they wear all their old clothes. They have known nothing but a hand-to-mouth existence ever since they came into this world and perhaps will go out the same way.

Of course it isn't pleasant to meet solicitor after solicitor, nobody enjoys being dunned, or asked to contribute, somehow we'd rather do that of our own volition, yet if we were left to do that very thing why we wouldn't come across at all, in the business and affairs of the day it would most certainly be allowed to go unnoticed, unimportant.

There's no use trying to scare anybody into believing that he might become an object of charity some day, no man is going to do that so long as he has health and a pair of good hands and most of us figure that we'll always have that asset. Perhaps we will, here's hoping at any rate, but that doesn't help the poor devil who is minus the necessary sum to buy a bed, or get a hot meal. That is a duty we do not regard as a duty, all of us, but it is a duty nevertheless.

Personally, the writer has always favored the Community Chest idea, doing away with a vast amount of these donations to necessary causes, but we haven't the chest and apparently will wait several years before that chest is established, in the meantime there is but one cause left open, we are going to have to dig down deep when called upon and get some of this loose change to spend for something aside from our own pleasures and comforts.

This thing of being called upon for charitable purpose is not a bit relishing, but brother if you weren't able to donate to causes of charity it is likely that you wouldn't feel so optimistic toward life, nor your cities, nor your fellowman. You are pretty lucky to be among those folks who can give to such noble cause. When your next solicitor comes along just remember that he is complimenting you.

SOMETHING NEW IN THE NEWS OF ALBANY-DECATUR.

Just a line or two perhaps, but the story was told, a new story to the readers of Albany-Decatur, property has begun to move in east Albany, location of the giant $2,100,000 plant of the Connecticut Mills Company. That property has stood idle for several years, only one or two manufacturing plants, the operations of the Alabama Water Company and some river front traffic offering the signs of life for that section of these cities.

That is very encouraging and particularly when it is understood that that particular section of the city needs building progress more than any other part of these communities.

Central Albany and Central Decatur have offered the beauties of the small city for several years. The growth of west Albany and west Decatur has been almost phenomenal insofar as the building of residence is concerned. South Albany has been substantial with additional homes here there and the other place, but East Albany has stood still, absolutely still, although with considerable more natural beauty than is ordinarily seen by the passing eye. East Albany has an abundance of shade trees, paved streets running as far east as the Somerville road, Grant street going to Tower avenue, Riverview drive used to be one of the best streets of the city but was allowed to go into ill repair when the section suddenly lost its popularity for automobilists and swimmers. Just what caused that sudden halt is another mystery in city building. Homes in that section, in some cases, have not offered the beauties of appearance of homes in other sections of the cities. The city of Albany projected a paving plan only to halt. East Albany was allowed to remain dead, business places were allowed to continue a nominal business, many homes fell into a condition of poor repair, east Albany looked like it was doomed to pass from any existence at all. Yet, certainly, that day is now past. The Connecticut Mills Company has located in that section, land is valuable and is selling at good prices, the acreage is in demand. A sub-division and perhaps other sub-divisions are planned. Only recently two lots sold at $550 each. That figure is half as much paid for central Albany frontage and certainly the comparison would show without doubt that the central section is to be desired more than twice as much as the east lands.

It's the outlook again, that outlook that has been watched with care here for several years, it is the return of lost hope, the desire to build where nothing has stood, the desire to expand the cities the desire to add another section of beauty to Albany-Decatur and that desire is not misplaced in the least. Such a desire can be found in every section of our cities today. It's the outlook for a future of bright prospects that counts, our cities have at last gained an inkling of what can be accomplished here if the citizenship gets back on any proposal solidly—as they did with the establishment here of the Connecticut Mills Company. We have something to be proud of in that victory, it means the building of a great city.

THANKS KIWANIS, REPAIRING A LONG, FELT NEED.

Thanks Kiwanis! That with a sigh of temporary relief. Let's not dim the accomplishment of the present with that word "temporary," forget it for once.

The Albany Decatur Kiwanis club, as usual, has shouldered its burden and authorized contractors to proceed with work on the three mile stretch of highway in Morgan county, leading toward the Lawrence county line on the Twin-City-Tri-City roadway. The sum involved in the negotiation amounts to $600, a small sum it is true, but for such a magnificent and important project. The good will involved in that $600 deal amounts to three to four times the sum if good will is to be measured in money. Lawrence contains many see now that Albany-Decatur, Morgan county, wants Lawrence county to be a closer neighbor, wants Lawrence county to come here often.

The Kiwanis club, not in the habit of doing things in a half-way fashion, through its solicitation committee, is planning to go before the Lawrence county board of revenue and to prominent men of that county to ask that Lawrence county repair the remaining two miles of roadway. The repair of that additional two miles will mean that the highway is thrown open from here to the Shoals cities, will mean that traveling men will not be bothered with the dread of a dangerous drive, that farmers can come and go without the danger of break downs, that Morgan contains can go into the Lawrence sections without fear of broken springs and twisted car bodies. The Morgan-Lawrence connecting link has been one of the worst pieces of roadway in the entire North Alabama section and this temporary repair, until the state highway commission is in position to act, will cause more than temporary relief.

It is probable that the work on the road will not take much more than a week's time, sacrificing and rolling all that is necessary under the present contract, if the contractors are able to finish the project within that time limit then the cities will begin to see immediate results, even in Christmas business. There is a large trade volume to come from Lawrence county section and commerce from that section favors trading in Albany-Decatur, almost as much as Albany-Decatur wants that business. Removing the road terror is going to add another avenue to already flourishing trade channels leading into these cities.

The Daily wishes to thank the members of the Kiwanis club for seeing a job through, for seeing that a poor advertisement for Morgan county and Albany-Decatur is taken down. Kiwanians have added another feather in their civic caps, they again have proved that what interests Albany-Decatur interests the Kiwanis club likewise. Their efforts will find favor not only in Morgan, but in Lawrence county as well. They have certainly taken the right methods for removing a "civic shame," as that road had been designated in the past. The willingness of the Kiwanis to take up such a proposition is another reason why that club is standing at the top of the list in the hearts of Twin City people, as well as remaining paramount in the hearts of the club membership. That road move is actual civic service.

In offering Mr. Brisbane's daily editorials The Daily does not necessarily concur with his opinions, but offers them as the sentiments of the highest paid editorial writer in this country.

DR. HUNDESEN, health commissioner of Chicago, says many fathers and mothers "kiss their babies into the grave." To kiss an infant on the mouth is a crime. Persons stupid enough to allow strangers to kiss their children almost deserve the result.

An infant's blood lacks the protective strength, the disease fighting leucocytes, that come later in life. For that reason

Don't Kiss The Baby.
Congress Meets.
Hoover's Plan.
One of the 5 Greatest.

consumption nearly always starts before the child is two years old. Millions of unfortunate children have had the tubercular germs planted in their mouths by loving but ignorant mothers. Kiss your baby on the top of its head.

Let no one else kiss or handle it.

CONGRESS, resuming business, finds the indignant farmer sitting on the capital steps telling big income tax payers, "until the government does something for us farmers, you don't get that refund of $250,000,000."

COTTON MEN will tell congress that such a rich government should do something for cotton growers, as it does for railroads and other respectable concerns that lack money.

Wheat and cotton farmers don't take kindly to the idea that it is "paternalism" to help farmers and also impossible. They remember that in the war the government lent millions of dollars to a Brooklyn street car line because it was a little hard up.

If the southern farmers unite with the western farm block, both will get consideration. The men that would get the $250,000,000 income tax refund are influential in government and the $250,000,000 would be very welcome.

SECRETARY HOOVER'S plan for water ways in the United States is a magnificent, common sense presentation of what this country should do.

Mr. Hoover shows that 3,000,000 horsepower, more than three times the amount now taken from Niagara Falls, could be developed on the Tennessee and Cumberland rivers. Reservoirs and dams in connection with the development would check floods in the Mississippi valley, and provide a six-foot channel connecting the Tennessee and Cumberland with the Ohio and Mississippi.

THE South knows what that power, now wasted, would mean to Atlanta, Birmingham, Chattanooga, Nashville.

That is only one item in a great programme that the will of the American people should put through.

NEXT March comes the one hundredth anniversary of the death of Beethoven. George Eastman, of Rochester, is at the head of a committee to make the day memorable.

It ought to be, for Beethoven is one of the five greatest men that ever lived and deserves the world's tribute.

All the science and harmony of music were in his brain. He composed his greatest work and led the orchestra when stone deaf, he could not hear a note.

HE spent two years on a symphony in honor of Napoleon, and when the latter seized imperial power he left Napoleon out and called his symphony "Sinfonia Francaise."

He and Goethe were walking side by side, the king came along. Goethe took off his hat and stepped aside. Beethoven walked straight ahead and the king stepped to one side to let him pass.

Beethoven considered Bach the greatest of musicians and said he should have been named "ocean." "Bach" in German means "brook."

DISCUSSION of the Marlborough-Vanderbilt marriage annulment continues. Monsignor John L. Belford calls Bishop Manning's denouncing the annulment "waving the Star-Spangled Banner by an Englishman."

This removes the discussion to foreign soil. Bishop Manning complains that a Protestant Episcopal marriage was annulled in Rome.

Monsignor Belford says Bishop Manning was "impudent and impertinent" when he gave an opinion not asked for.

WONDERFUL are the chemists who have accomplished more in this century and learned more about chemistry than the chemists of all ages preceding.

Now they plan artificial "Synthetic" Rubber, made of petroleum, using what is left over when gasoline has been taken out.

SOME substitute for natural rubber must be found, since it takes two full grown rubber trees two whole years to produce one Ford tire. And Britain controls the natural rubber.

Almost everything can be made artificially, except life and intelligence. Science stops there.

Answers to Health Queries

F. R. Q.—What causes a pain across my back from my shoulder blade?
A.—What causes a burning sensation in my knees and thighs?

A.—This condition may be due to lumbago. Massage and heat applications are beneficial in treatment. If these do not help try having the back strapped.

2.—Probably this is caused by scoliosis. Diet and medication have their share in successful treatment. For any other information send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

B. Q.—I am a girl of 16, 4 ft. 11 inches tall. What should I weigh?

A.—You should weigh about 118 pounds.

I. C. T. Q.—I am dieting to reduce. Are breakfast foods, crackers, oatmeal, boots, beans, carrots, turnips, parsnips and spinach fattening?

A.—Anything eaten in excess is fattening. The first three foods you mention are naturally more fattening than fresh green vegetables. Restrict your diet in regard to sweets and starches and take plenty of outdoor exercise. This should be reducing.

DINNER DANCE AT FLORENCE COUNTRY CLUB

Among the many charming hospitalities that have been tendered during the early winter season, none was more beautifully planned than the dinner dance given last evening by Miss Olive Rogers and Mrs. B. A. Rogers at the Florence Country Club. The honorees of the delightful occasion were Mrs. J. A. McCabe, who leaves soon for an extended visit in California. Mrs. W. B. Edmondson of Decatur and the members of her house party, Mrs. Bowman of Columbus, Ohio, Mrs. McMaydek of South America, and Mrs. Horton of Decatur, whom she is entertaining at her country home "Wilderness Place."

The long table in the private dining room was unusually lovely in its appointments. For a centerpiece, a silver basket gracefully filled with gorgeous pink roses and asparagus ferns, was used. On each end of the table, was a bowl of pink chrysanthemums and extending from the center of the table to the bowls of chrysanthemums on either end, were silver candlesticks, holding unshaded pink tapers. Covers were laid for seventeen and a five-course dinner menu served. Seated at the table were Mrs. McCabe, Mrs. Edmondson, Mrs. Horton, Mrs. McMaydek, Mrs. Bowman, Dr. and Mrs. A. A. Jackson, Mrs. C. M. Southall, Miss R. E. Meade, Mr. Flagg, of Boston; Mr. William Conner, Miss Olive Rogers and Mr. B. A. Rogers.

Following the dinner, a large number of guests were invited to a dance. Excellent music was furnished by a stringed orchestra and punch and sandwiches were served all during the evening. One hundred guests from the Tri-Cities were included in this courtesy.—Tri-Cities Daily.

MRS. GRIFFIN ENTERTAINS FOR MRS. RYAN

Mrs. W. M. Griffin was a delightful hostess Thursday at her home in South Albany when she entertained in compliment to Mrs. Ophelia Ryan, who is a visitor here for the first time in several months.

The entertainment was an all-day affair, enjoyable spent in em-brodering, singing, and discussion. At the noon hour an old-fashioned chicken dinner was served in the dining room where a huge bouquet of white and lavender chrysanthemums added to the attractiveness of the inviting table. Guests included Mrs. Ophelia Ryan, Mrs. W. G. Grantland, Mrs. J. W. Coneh, Mrs. H. F. Elrod, Mrs. W. J. Cobbs and the hostess.

U. D. C. MEETS WITH MRS. HIMES

The Joe Wheeler Chapter, United Daughters of the Confederacy met on Thursday afternoon and in spite of the threatening weather, a large part of the membership was present. These answered roll call with names of Governors of Alabama. At the business session the organization voted to contribute to the Carolyn Dowdell Memorial scholarship at Montgomery College and they also voted to send the usual Christmas box to the Old Soldiers Home.

The program rendered was splendid. Mrs. D. D. McGehee gave a biographical sketch of Alexander Stephens of Georgia, after which the life of Jefferson Davis was sketched by Mrs. J. H. McMath. Miss Elizabeth Wallace gave two very pretty vocal selections with Mrs. W. C. Bailey playing the accompaniment at the piano. A beautiful Christmas reading given with Miss Harris Irwin at the piano and Miss Elkins Himes reading, was very much enjoyed by their hearers.

Late in the afternoon the hostess served delicious dainties.

SILK STOCKING CLUB

Mrs. W. B. Markstein entertained the Silk Stocking club and an extra table of guests on Thursday afternoon at her lovely home on Perry street.

At the club game, Mrs. Leroy McEntire was the lucky contestant and she received the club prize, while Mrs. John McGehee was presented the visitor's prize.

A delicious salad course was enjoyed after the game by the members and guests, the latter including Mrs. Leroy Moore, of Dillon, S. C., Mrs. A. C. Bailey, Miss Amanda Pride, Mrs. John McGehee and Mrs. A. Steinhart.

Helpful Advice to Girls

By Annie Laurie

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I am twenty and in love with a girl in another State. Since we parted I have written to her every day, but she has not answered my letters. Do you think that she may have met someone else? We were engaged to each other. Can you help me?

LONESOME DINNEY.

LONESOME DINNEY: If your fiancée continues to ignore your letters, you might telephone her or send her a wire. It is just possible that your letters may have been inaccurately addressed. You can determine that by sending her a registered letter and asking for a return receipt. Should you decide to reach her by phone or wire, insist upon knowing whether or not she means to break the engagement. If that is what her silence means, I am afraid there is nothing you can do about it. It would be disastrous to marry her if she has ceased to care for you.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I am a girl in my early teens and am going with a very nice young man. When he brings

THURSDAY CLUB

Mrs. J. L. Gunter was the charming hostess at the meeting of the Thursday club with one substitute, Mrs. W. R. Smith enjoying her hospitality.

This will be the last meeting until after the Christmas holidays.

BRIDGE EIGHT

The members of the Bridge Eight and the following were bridge guests of Mrs. Robin Thomas this week at the meeting of the former club: Miss Marjorie Beard, Miss Christine Almon, Miss Charlotte Broadus, Mrs. E. E. Adams, Miss Mary Jervis and Miss Eleanor Harrison.

The club trophy was won by Mrs. S. E. Patterson and the guest souvenir by Miss Beard.

At the end of the usual number of games the hostess served a hot plate luncheon.

PERSONALS

Mrs. Hattie Rhinehart was called to Helena, Ark., on account of the illness of her daughter, Mrs. C. B. McCaddon, and she will leave for that city on Saturday morning.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I am a girl of sixteen. My mother is dead and I stay with my relatives first at one of my aunts' and then another. I am very lonesome and would like to have a boy friend call on me. I know a very nice boy, who says he likes me and I like him.

How can I get the permission of my relatives for him to call? Am I too young to keep company with boy friends?

LONESOME. Suggest to your aunt and uncle that they permit the boy to visit you while they are present. Tell them that they will then be in a position to judge whether or not he is worthy of your friendship.

You are too young to "keep company" in the accepted meaning of the expression. If your guardians agree I don't think it would be harmful to play with other girls and boys of your age.

Today a well-known New York woman returns from the Island of Ball, where she was unusually successful in this work, and her arrival gets only a line in the newspapers.

The modern woman, when strong and healthy, is proving so successful in any field she chooses to enter, that the world is no longer surprised at anything she does.

Thousands of women are now using St. Joseph's G. F. P. for that purpose for which it is intended when they feel themselves becoming weakened and run-down, and are so delighted with their experiences using this vegetable compound they are coming right out in public to tell other women of it.

Mrs. H. C. Braswell, 631 30th St., Birmingham, Ala., says: "I am certainly glad I started using St. Joseph's G. F. P. This medicine is just what I need and now I am using it, I am gaining in weight and strength every day."

ANTI-SALOON IS IN SPEAKER FIGHT

Letter Urges That Tompkins Is The Logical Man

Urging that Hon. O. L. Tompkins is the logical man for the Speakership of the House of Representatives in this state, a letter was received today from J. Bibb Mills, state superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League of Alabama, asking that members of the legislature be lined up for Tompkins.

The following resolution was passed December 6 by the headquarters committee of the league: "Whereas Hon. O. L. Tompkins is now and has always been a consistent supporter of the principles and policies of prohibition.

Therefore be it Resolved, by the Headquarters Committee of the Anti-Saloon League of Alabama, that we give our undivided support to Mr. Tompkins for the Speakership of the house of representatives and call upon our friends both in the house and out of it to join us in this support."

Anything you can do to elect Mr. Tompkins will be greatly appreciated by the prohibition forces of this state.

Very sincerely yours,
J. B. BIBB MILLS, Superintendent.

P. S.—Please get busy with your members of the Legislature and get them to vote for Tompkins for Speaker. He is one hundred per cent with us.

Traffic Cop Is Walking On Beat

W. P. Moore, traffic officer in the city of Albany, is walking his beat these days, his motor being laid up for repairs. Mr. Moore is making his rounds daily and expects to be back in the saddle within a short time. He is awaiting the arrival of spare parts for his ailing machine.

Best Albany-Decatur, these cities belong to you.

What helps Albany-Decatur helps you, don't fail to talk the good points of your cities.

"Real action" was the way Ed R. Adcock characterized the work of the Albany-Decatur Kiwanis club this morning. Mr. Adcock was speaking of the Decatur-Courtland roadway repair, in which the Kiwanis club decided to accept the responsibility for having the Morgan county section of the roadway placed in passable condition.

"DON'T TELL THE WIFE," starring Irene Rich, is a Warner Bros. production of this novel.

SYNOPSIS
Ranny Forbes, star polo player, and his beautiful wife, Joan, are temperamental miscreants. Joan wants a divorce. Ranny, loving her, though secretly knowing she loves Abner Grattam, lacking proof that Joan is faithless, he plans to trap her and her white lie. They are all on a winter trip on the yacht of Stinner, a millionaire lumber king. Complications multiply. Joan, jealous when Ranny flirts with Clare, a widow, encourages Abner's advances. Stinner, loving Clare, resents Ranny's interest. A swimming party is arranged. Clare's suit shocks the crowd. She appeals to Ranny for approval.

CHAPTER VII.—Continued
Clare had what is known in the parlance of the theatrical world as "stage presence"—an instinctive dramatic trick of radiating attention and focusing it upon her merest words and actions. She worked the gift to its utmost in that moment. She made sure that Joan and everyone was watching her before she whispered, soft and low, to Ranny: "I just adore men who have the courage of their own feelings." Ranny, staring with deep concern into those limpid apoplectic eyes, felt that he was beginning to "just adore" their owner! Despite the intensity of his feeling for a woman who was beginning to open abstracted in that matter. While his open and shameless flirtation with Clare, which was originally meant as a means to an end in his campaign of vengeance, was beginning to collect heartfelt dividends on his emotions!

CHAPTER VIII
Captain Marty Wales was a Maine man born and bred. Social graces do not accrue naturally to the genuine lean and old fashioned brand of "down-t-hummers," whose eyes are fixed to the horizon of open sea rather than to the foreshortened ones of drawing rooms, and whose hands grow red and coarse of winters hauling up lobster traps. Despite his derivation, however, there was a positive quality of manly gentility about Captain Marty, with his ramrod back and his six-foot-three frame of two hundred and thirty pounds, that fitted him eminently well to the bridge of a gentleman's yacht.

Yes, even to the bridge of the finest and most fastidious gentleman's yacht afloat, the Speedwell of Livingston Stinner. When he caught a mailed order from Stinner to nose the Speedwell toward a sandy spit of beach and drop anchor, there was a regal gesture in the manner in which he touched his cap in salute that seemed to distinguish him as owner instead of employee. More, there was no end of disdain and derision plainly visible in Captain Marty's mien and voice as he surveyed the scantily clad society folk waiting upon the forward deck for him to heave the yacht so that they might dive and swim. Many times during his career on the millionaire's yacht had Captain Marty seen bizarre escapades which he could overlook, or merely smile about in his remote way. But no blue nosed man from Maine could be expected to observe with equanimity people going in swimming on an autumn day.

A man of many thoughts, but few words. That was Captain Marty. To his first mate now he grunted: "Natty bunch! The old ones even more'n the young ones. The gals as plumb silly as the men." The first mate was as dry as the fish on the sun racks in the little Nova Scotian town of Lunenburg, from which he hailed. He grunted: "You can't tell 'em apart from here! Men or women—which is which!" Now the Speedwell's engines were stopped and she swung gently on a flood tide from her chains, while Captain Marty and his mate hung over the bridge to stiver and I am a raving maniac.

I mumble in my sleep;
I walk the floor
From door to door,
My groans are hoarse and deep.

Another week and I shall be confined behind the gates.

Oh, woe is me! Oh woe is me!
My brain is in a whirl;
I'll get no rest
Till I invest
In a present for my girl!

Captaincy For Next Year To Be Given In Team Vote

Thirty or more guests will attend the annual Albany Hi gridiron banquet tonight in the cafeteria of the high school building at six o'clock. Selection of a captain for next year's eleven will be voted by the team. Ladies of the Parent-Teachers association are serving the dinner.
Squad members as well as regulars and several guests will gather at the school. Several talks from team members and school officials are scheduled for the occasion.
Ladies of the Parent-Teachers association banquet the team each year, expressing an appreciation for the efforts of loyal students who have tried to bring their school to the top in an athletic way.

"Oh," said Kittie, "I like it pretty well, all but the trimming, the color and the shape."

I was touched by her dainty ankle.
I tried to kiss her,

Yale Coach Refuses To Hazard Guess On The Outcome Of New Year's Game

You fellows who are a bit skittish in hazarding guesses about the Alabama-Stanford game in the Rose Bowl on New Year's Day have nothing at all to blush or stutter over, Tad Jones, Yale coach, is in the same canoe. That giant football intellect looks at the thing from the far-away angle— even as you and I. Tad Jones says that the outcome of the battle will not settle sectional supremacy, that the team winning one day would not necessarily come back and win the next day, in other words its that old stuff about the good being half bad and the bad in the same mediocre class.

Tad Jones knows more football in a portion of a second than most people know the balance of their lives, but Tad has something else to think over. Alabama has won consistently for three years now, she has been champion of the South for three years, that would not necessarily bring a decision that the team is an in-and-out. Well, at any rate the Yale mentor has that perfect right of women and some men, he has a right to his opinion.

Somehow, whether it's hunch, or football intuition, or just plain loyalty, it looks as if Alabama has a pretty good chance to rip the seam in Stanford's championship coat when the two gather to celebrate the New Year. Stanford, avowedly is of strength, then so is Alabama.

The new Balkite Trickle and High-Rate Charger

The new Balkite Charger with both low and high charging rates is easily the greatest charger value in radio. It combines a trickle and rapid charger in one. As a trickle charger, it can be permanently connected to your battery and in effect converts it into an automatic light socket, "A" power supply. Its high rate supplies a ready reserve of power for the largest sets.

The new Balkite Charger is a permanent piece of equipment. It has no tubes and nothing to replace. Entirely noiseless, in most cases it can be used during reception. Can be used with 4 or 6-volt batteries. Price $19.50. FOR THOSE WHO REQUIRE A CHARGER OF ONLY LIMITED CAPACITY—THE BALKITE TRICKLE CHARGER—$10. Ask your dealer. ball team, it's going to be that inspired football eleven you have been reading of in story books—you know—where the hero dashes around the ends and through the line, grabs passes, and never so much as gets his pants soiled. Well, that's fiction. Alabama is going to present about 22 facts in Crimson regalia and that's going to mean that Stanford University has two, perhaps three thoughts coming on ways and means for winning football games.

Another Asks For All County Team

Another has plied the Daily sport writers asking that an all-county team be placed before the eyes of sport readers and again the Daily must renege at the request. Daily sport writers saw a number of county games this year, but failed to see all the teams in action. Arab, with a splendid record, did not appear locally and without knowledge of that team it would hardly seem fair to pick an eleven. The Daily however, welcomes views of other fans in the county and will gladly publish such a county team if it is submitted.

True Story of Lawrence Stallings Is Told In Filming of "The Big Parade"

Here Are The Actual Facts About The Author of "The Big Parade."

The career of Lawrence Stallings, who is not yet thirty-five in literature and the drama has been meteoric. In four years he has co-authored a war play, written a best-seller novel and supplied the original story for "The Big Parade" which is held by many critics to be the best motion-picture ever produced. Lawrence Stallings is a native of Macon, Ga., where he received his early education. He was graduated from Wake Forest College, North Carolina, and is therefore a fellow alumnus of the late President Woodrow Wilson. Shortly after graduation from Wake Forest, Stallings became a newspaper reporter and got a job from Major John Cohen, editor of the Atlanta Journal. On this paper he ran the routine of reporterial jobs and also served on the copy desk.

When America entered the World War, Stallings enlisted in the Marine Corps as a buck private. After the preliminary training at Parris Island he was selected for the officers' training school from which he received his commission as second lieutenant of Marines. Stallings went to France with the famous Fifth Regiment of Marines in 1917 and fought through most of the major engagements with the Second Division. Before the Armistice was signed he had won a Captaincy and he had been severely wounded in the terrific Belleau Wood offensive.

Then followed long weeks in base hospitals in France. On Christmas Eve, 1918, Captain Stallings landed in New York and caught his first sight of the metropolis from a stretcher as he was carried off a hospital ship. He had a badly shattered leg from the wounds he had received.

For many months he was a patient in rehabilitation hospital. As soon as he was able to hobble about, Stallings visited the Washington newspaper offices intent upon getting a job as it was necessary to continue treatments for his shattered leg at the Walter Reed Hospital there. He finally landed a place as a copy reader of the Washington Times. It was while he was trying to establish himself in newspaper work again that the wounds he received in France became so serious that he had to return to the Walter Reed Hospital where he suffered the loss of his leg. As soon as he was able to be about again he resumed his job.

In March, 1919, and after a long period at the Walter Reed Hospital, Laurence Stallings was married to Miss Helen Poteat, daughter of Dr. W. L. Poteat, the president of Wake Forest College. He had met his wife in college and became engaged before entering the Marine Corps.

Herbert Bayard Swope gave Stallings a desk job on the New York World about 1921, and his column of interesting book reviews became famous. Shortly after the publication of his novel "Plumes" Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer signed Stallings to a contract to go to Hollywood and write the screen story of America's part in the war. On the way to California, Irving Thalberg of the Metro studios in Culver City discussed with the author his ideas for an epic of the war and its treatment on the screen. Laurence Stallings then set to work and wrote the original story. King Vidor has transferred to the screen in "The Big Parade," which is coming to the Princess Theatre on Tuesday, December 14.

Bit by bit, this story developed until at its conclusion the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer officials realized that they had one of the finest pictures the screen has produced and certainly the best motion picture attempt to correctly depict the stirring days of the World War.

The telling of this tremendously human phase of America's part in the World War Conflict has stamped Laurence Stallings as the best reporter of the World War we have known. At the time that some of America's best writers were sending back news from the front, Laurence Stallings was marching weary miles with the Marines over dusty French roads or leading his company through the wheat fields of France under a heavy barrage. His trained reportorial mind was

POLICE FORCE IS UNDER INSPECTION

No 'Eye-Openers' For Indianapolis Cops, It Is Revealed

By International News Service
INDIANAPOLIS, Ind.—As the result of complaints that some patrolmen have been indulging in "eye-openers" the night police shift has had added to its routine a new test.

It is a "breath" test. The men are lined up in the roll call room and the order to "wheeze out!" is given. Amid blowing and wheezing Lieutenant Fred Drinkut and Sgt. Reilly, Eisenhower and Dever advance along the lines sniffing the various aromas in search of an alcoholic breath.

Thus far no member of the force has been questioned although it was said that several with red noses are under suspicion.

He Is Looking 'Em Over Again

"Eight years of stomach and liver trouble reduced me to a walking skeleton. My skin was dried up and as yellow as a twenty-dollar gold piece. I was filled with gas and had severe pains in my right side. I could not think and had lost all ambition to do anything. Doctor's medicine did not touch me. My cousin advised MAYR'S, which snatched me from the grave. I have gained sixty pounds, eat like a hired man and am looking 'em over again." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. At all drug-gists.—Adv.

recording places and events that transpired along the march and these came later into the script of "The Big Parade" which is one reason for the stamp of authenticity which has been placed on this epic film.

Results of Local Elections Stir Party Politicians In England

By H. K. REYNOLDS
(International News Service Staff Correspondent)

LONDON.—The results of the municipal elections in England, Scotland and Wales in November, in which the Socialists scored sweeping success in scores of cities, are being made the subject of careful study by politicians of all parties, anxious to determine which way the political wind is blowing. The balloting appears to reveal a distinct nation-wide movement toward Labor-Socialist control of municipal government, especially in large industrial centers. This is the flat assertion of the leaders of the Labor Party, while even in Conservative and Unionist circles close to the Government the warning is sounded that unless the anti-Socialists organize with the same care and vote with the same energy as their opponents, they are doomed to see the control of local governments throughout the country pass into the hands of the Laborites and other political movements of the extreme left.

In both Labor and anti-Socialist quarters it is conceded that the six months coal stoppage and other industrial disturbances had the most decisive effect upon the result. Laborites declare that the workers rallied to the support of their candidates as a protest against the manner in which the Government has handled the coal dispute, including its alleged policy of "starving the miners." There is no doubt that the continuance of the mining struggle, coupled with increased unemployment, and the general black outlook for the workers, did count heavily against the Government in the elections, but it is pointed out that under such conditions such as now prevail in Great Britain the Government in power would be bound to suffer at the hands of a great mass to blame for their troubles.

"It may be an irrational mood," said the Times in discussing the Socialist victories, "that turns against the Government of the day when times are bad. But the mood exists; it has abundant precedent in party politics; it is a mood with which the Government must reckon. It would change, no doubt, with attainment of a fair settlement (i. e., of the coal dispute) but for the time being at all events it is likely to be the dominant factor in any popular election in this country."

"BLACK BOTTOM" PUT UNDER BAN

Inspector Expects An Epidemic Of Hips Dislocate d

(By International News Service)
CLEVELAND.—The "Black Bottom," hits barred in Cleveland.

This dance, said to have been inspired by watching a bossy cow with both rear feet mired in the mud, is too unattractive for Charles Johnson, inspector of dance halls here.

Johnson is not particularly displeased with the dance from a moral point of view but he is afraid that an epidemic of dislocated hips may result from performing it too violently.

"They wiggle too much," he declared after visiting an institution where the "hot" dance was being exhibited by a number of couples. "In fact they wiggle all over; it is much worse than the 'shimmy.' The 'Black Bottom' sprang into instant popularity here when dancing masters met recently and unanimously decided not to teach a step of it, whereupon the youth of the city set about to learn it.

Another important reason for Socialist success was that the anti-Government forces had the superior political organization, while the anti-Socialists were practically unorganized. The Laborites were out to register just as many gains as they could as stepping stones toward getting control of Parliament and the national Government. Leaders of the Labor Party, are greatly encouraged by their propaganda efforts in the rural districts with a view to linking these up with the towns in their next important bid for power.

WET ONTARIO IS CHRISTMAS BOON TO BOOTLEGGERS

Santa Claus Is Early For Border Rum Runners, Shown

DRY ELECTION HAS AN EFFECT

Thousand Islands To Prove Popular As Pleasure Resort

By International News Service
SYRACUSE, N. Y.—Bootleggers throughout Northern New York are wearing broad, genial smiles, as Santa Claus came early for them.

And all due to the fact that the province of Ontario—just across the border lines—has gone "wet" by a huge majority.

G. Howard Ferguson, leader of the Conservatives in the recent provincial elections, made his campaign on a platform calling for the sale of liquor under a government commission, as opposed to the present temperance act. Out of the 109 members of the Ontario Legislature 89 who had pledged themselves to support Mr. Ferguson have been elected.

Hence the rejoicing among the bootlegger fraternity in Northern New York.

No Sorrow Apparent Investigation will also reveal there is nothing like sorrow and depression among the owners of summer resorts along the Canadian border and in various other points in Northern New York.

The decision of the Ontario voters, brings Rochester, Watertown, Clayton, Oswego, Syracuse and scores of other communities miles and miles nearer the source of supply than before. It opens up a huge virgin field for the activities of the rum runners in that it shortens the route by many miles, facilitates the transportation of wet goods across the lake as well as the St. Lawrence river.

The Thousand Islands with its hundreds of summer hotels and pleasure resorts is but a step away from what is now moist territory and which in the past has been more or less arid.

Advantage To Rum Runners This, of course, will not cause decline in the number of visitors who will flock to this section next summer. For years called "The Playgrounds of America," the Thousand Island section will undoubtedly more than ever richly deserve this title in the near future.

But the real advantage to the bootleggers in the change of policies in the Ontario province is due to the fact that it shortens the route, either by water or earth, over which the bootleg liquor has to travel before it reaches American hip pockets. Shortening of the distance means decreasing danger of detection to the bootleggers as compared with the long dash through Rouse Point or other far distant Northern New York points.

A THREE DAYS COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

Business Failures To Drop With Intelligent Buying And Selling

BY ROBERT S. THORNBURGH
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON.—Lack of intelligent buying and selling is the major cause of business mortalities or failures—according to Dr. Julius Klein, director of the U. S. Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce.

"There have been many contributions upon what might be called the pathology of business—analyses of the causes of commercial mortality and conversely the definition of the reasons for assured longevity," Klein said.

"Almost every one of these explorations of the life-cycles of typical trades and industries brings out clearly the fact that the major cause of mortality is not found among the commonly accepted alibis for failure, excessive wages, discriminatory freight rates, inaccessible raw materials, remoteness of markets, but rather in the lack of intelligent buying and selling.

"Clearly one of the outstanding needs for maintenance of stable conditions in industry and commerce at present is the spread of PARIS.—Demi-season dinner frocks for just before Christmas—wear show that black still has a definite hold on public fancy, especially in crepe satin.

Black seems to have supplanted the popularity of beige and lighter colors for no longer does it have the somber after-the-war aspect it once had. Now it comes with color relief by touches of some bright tint. Sleeves for instance may be piped in green bands near the wrist in the big puff-cuff, while note of green is repeated elsewhere in the frock. Green and pink seem to have more vogue than any other note in color, with the exception of white, which is truly outstanding in its contrast with rich black, either in satin or in georgette with satin frocks.

applied research in marketing." Eliminating Waste

Klein said this does not imply any failure to appreciate the high quality of hundreds of research agencies now conducted by large associations, universities and trade individual enterprises.

Widespread need exists, however, for the adaptation of thousands by moderately sized and smaller manufacturers and distributors of the results achieved by these agencies, for a greater appreciation of the fundamental principle of the "economy of knowledge," in business, and the incalculable saving that can be effected through more precise and far-sighted marketing operations.

"Much has been done in the elimination of waste in recent years in a dozen avenues of production activity, but there is still a vast, almost totally unexplored field of saving on the part of the smaller units in our industrial and commercial organizations with regard to their buying and selling," Klein asserted.

The mortality records of recent casualties reveal all too clearly, according to Klein, that the way to success in these days lies through the conservation of effort by the elimination of non-productive sales and purchasing methods.

A department of commerce analysis of the status of 350 firms in a certain manufacturing line revealed that the outstanding leader in the industry was the only one employing a business analyst.

Western Competition An examination of the relative prosperity of various members of one section of industry brought out the fact that its older members on the Atlantic seaboard were much concerned with the steadily increasing western competition which they admitted could probably have been retarded by the earlier application of some intensive technical research.

"These leaders had been relying too long upon their supposed 'superior experience,' and longer training in the industry," Klein said.

"As a matter of fact it may be frankly doubted whether experience really is the best teacher in the field of commerce and industry, if we take experience to mean the accumulation of tradition and dear-out adherence to past practices.

"It may seem heresy to suggest it, but there are times when over-confidence in past methods and trade processes is well nigh disastrous. In pre-war days it was a common European pastime to certain trades to scorn American competition as ephemeral because of the rank extravagance of our plants; because we abandoned as trash great quantities of material which other peoples would find of value.

"Quite the contrary: our industry has grown precisely because it has the highest scrap heap in the world, because it has consistently refused to be bound down by past practices solely because they were sanctified with age."
